PLEASE NOTE!

Smaller plates are sold loosely packed in boxes
- They are too small to be stacked. We refer to them as loose packs, and they are sold per box.
- The box size differs from that of the larger plates.
- The boxes have article numbers that end with L (as in loose pack), for example: 13-060200L
- The table shows the number of plates per box (in the yellow fields).

Bundle-Packed plates
- Larger packed plates are arranged in bundles and stacked.
- The bundles are packed in a lower-profile carton compared to loose pack cartons.
- Boxes for bundled plates are identified by an article number ending with the letter "K" for example: 13-084200K.
- The table shows the number of plates per box (in the blue fields).

BigBox – High-Volume Bundled plates
- For larger volumes, bundled sizes will be available in bulk packaging, referred to as BigBox.
- In this format, bundles are stacked and strapped on a EUR pallet, with corrugated board lining, similar to the packaging used for M20H plates.
- Production of BigBox for TopW is scheduled to begin in autumn/winter 2026.
